The Best Rugs Money can Buy

I am offering two rare and exquisite hand-knotted 100% silk Persian rugs for sale either singly or as a pair. The rugs are the utmost in luxury and fine craftsmanship - they truly are the Rolls Royce of rugs.

Made of the highest-grade silk, these rugs were crafted by some of the most skilled weavers in the world in the holy city of Qum near Tehran. The carefully hand-knotted process, with both the warp and weft made of silk, allows the weavers to make some of the most beautiful and complex designs - the finest quality that money can buy.

Each of these rugs has approximately 5-6 million knots in the whole rug. It is said that skilful weavers usually weave around 10,000 knots a day. This means that each of these rugs would have taken several years of a master weaver's time. Both rugs are individually signed by the weaver who created them, making them exponentially more valuable than unsigned rugs. This is because signed rugs can be tracked to the very workshop in which they were woven and to the master weaver who created them.

Depending on the angle of the light, each rug reveals new colours and details making each a unique work of art. Depending upon the weave, the rugs look much lighter from one end and darker richer colours from the opposing end - see photos to fully appreciate this phenomenon. This chameleon quality makes them adaptable to different styles and colour schemes of décor.

The rugs - Medallion and Floral - depict different patterns but both include stylized figurative plants and flowers in subtle hues of gold, red, brown, blue, cream, black and green.

Rugs of this knot density, quality and size are not only beautiful, but robust and durable. The entire rug is made of pure silk which is extraordinarily soft, crease-resistant and heat-insulating.

The rugs have been well cared for, show no sign of wear and are free from stains. They have both been professionally cleaned at significant cost to prepare them for sale.

Each rug is priced individually at £35,000 each or £60,000 for the pair.

Viewing upon request.
